Hybrid Corn Raises National Acre Yield

Ease of Harvesting Proves Advantageous

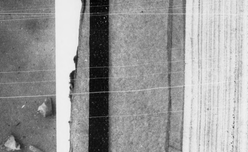
THE production of record corn crops during the war years has been strongly influenced by the use of hybrid seed corn in important growing areas.

Hybrid varieties, along with good growing weather, it is pointed out by the department of agriculture, have been major factors in raising the national acre yield of corn from an average of 25.8 bushels to 32.5



bushels. Nearly 52 per cent of the corn acreage was planted to hybrid varieties.

Very few barren plants are found in a field of hybrid corn, and a much smaller per cent of nubbins. Hybrid corn bears ears at a more uniform height than open-pollinated corn, and the plants stand up better under husking operations.

Agronomists emphasize that hybrid seed corn will not produce yields in spite of poor soil and poor culture. Where fertility or moisture is available for an acre yield of no more than 20 bushels of corn this condition is a limiting factor for both types.

Some hybrids show decided resistance to disease, and several tend toward immunity to chinch bugs and corn root worm. Resistance to the European corn borer and to the corn ear worm has also been found.

Industrialized Wheat.

Wheat, the staff of life, has taken on a definite commercial or industrial color. Since the time of Ceres, goddess of grain and allegedly the first to cut wheat, its main purpose has been to furnish man with food.

New uses are developing daily. Italy years ago developed cloth for women's clothes from straw. Butadiene, the principal ingredient in the synthetic rubber process, can be obtained from a wheat by-product.

Wheat is used in the manufacture of industrial alcohol, is utilized in the manufacture of starch and starch syrup.

For years wheat has been used for paper, paperboards and wood compositions.

Pound for pound, wheat is equal to corn in hog, dairy cow, cattle, sheep and poultry feeding.

Extension Service Receives U. S. Funds

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Financing of the U. S. Extension service program for 1946 on practically the same basis as in 1944 was assured here when the 78th congress in one of its last acts appropriated $29,000,000 for this purpose.

The amount was contained in the Deficiency Appropriation bill which provides that not less than 7 million and not more than 11 million dollars of the new funds are to be specifically earmarked for the use of the Extension service.

The bureau of the budget had originally submitted a preliminary estimate calling for continuation of the unspent funds left over from the calendar year of 1944, amounting to about 8 million dollars, to be available only until the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1945. Proponents of the program, however, declared this proposal unsatisfactory, asserting it would not provide adequate assurance to farmers that facilities would be available to obtain necessary farm labor through the year.

Social Security

Occasional complaints that social security account number cards are improperly used as identification for check-cashing purposes, today prompted Joseph W. Houston, manager of the Lynchburg field office of the Social Security Board, to issue the following cautionary statement:

"The social security account number card is not intended to serve as identification for check-cashing purposes, and should not be accepted as such.

"A social security card is issued to any person who applies for it. It is issued for one purpose and only one, That is to identify a social security account on which the wage record of the possessor may be posted as credit toward old-age and survivors insurance benefits. The account number is used with the person's name to identify his social security account, because many people have the same name or the same date of birth, but no two can have the same number. The Social Security Board pays benefits, requires proof to beneficiary identify himself

Overse..s Mail Jig-sawed Here

Jig-saw puzzling letters . . yes, it's a game and a most interesting one for the recipients of letters from the boys overseas, which letters were bodly mutilated Monday evening when the letter pouch, through suction, was caught under the wheels of the fast Pocahontas train here which dispatched same.

When ..e pouch was opened by postmaster K. LeRoy Smith, it gave one the impression that mice had been working overtime. Some of the letters were in large enough portions to determine the addressee. These parts of the letters were delivered and in many instances the post office clerks salvaged other portions of the letters and jigsawed them together enough for the recipients to get some satisfaction out of the contents.

Mrs. H. B. West, whose son, Charles is now serving in the U. S. M. C. in the Pacific, received a portion of a letter from her son in which she found a partial kodak picture of his feet. The missing parts of the picture were found the next day in the letter salvage scraps and now Mrs. West has jigsawed the picture together and has a likeness of her son.

Ask Voters Support Call For Convention

To The Voters of Appomattox County:

Governor Darden, at the direction of the legislature, has fixed March 6, 1945, as the date to have a special election in Virginia, upon the question of whether or not the members of our armed forces shall be allowed to vote without paying a poll tax or registering. The regular voting places will be open as usual from sunrise to sunset.

As you know there are nearly 1000 boys and girls in the armed forces from Appomattox County. Many of them are serving across the ocean thousands of miles from home. A number of them will never return. Some are already sleeping in lonely graves without a single loved one near to place flowers upon their grave. Others are risking their lives daily that we might remain at home with our loved ones. Still others have lost their sight, lost arms, legs and other injuries too horrible to mention. All in the service have gone where they were directed to go and served where told to serve whether on this side of the ocean or on the other side. They are all doing their duty as commanded.

The question is shall we allow these who are fighting and dying for us the privilege to vote or whether we will refuse them this privilege. It is not a question of whether they desire to vote. It is a question of whether they shall have the right to vote if they so desire. We do not believe that any patriotic citizen of Appomattox County, knowing the facts, would intentionally deprive our boys and girls of this great privilege.

Everyone who was eligible to vote last November in the Presidential election is eligible to vote March 6. In addition all those who have paid 1942, 1943 and 1944 taxes by December 12, 1944 are also eligible to vote (taking their receipts with them to the polls to show election judges.) We earnestly request every qualified voter to go to your voting precinct and vote on March 6, 1945, and back our boys and girls. Let them know that we in Appomattox County are behind them in every way.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Chas. F. James

Appomattox, Va.
February 19, 1945.

To The Citizens of
The Town of Appomattox:
Dear Friends:

I have been requested by a number of my friends of our town, to offer for the office of mayor. I am not a politician as you all know. However, I feel it my public duty in this trying hour to do whatever I can to promote the best interest of our town. Not wishing to shirk my duty and feeling that I can be of some service to the people of this town and county I hereby announce my candidacy for the Office of Mayor of the Town of Appomattox, Virginia. I hereby pledge my best efforts in the administration of the affairs of the town if elected. I will greatly appreciate your support in this matter.

Sincerely,
(Signed) Chas. F. James.

THE CONFEDERATE CEMETERY BEING DESECRATED

This, I think, is an appropriate time to call attention to the fact that disrespect is being shown to our dead war heroes of 1861-65, who gave their lives for us. The graves which have been erected to their memory are being pulled out of the ground and broken by vandals. Trucks and cars are driven through the grounds, and shrubbery is uprooted. Ropes used to raise the flags are made into swings. This is a parking space for those who care not for this sacred shrine. Each morning bottles and other signs of crime and vandalism can be found by our caretaker. The United Daughters of the Confederacy have given much time and expense to beautifying and up-keep of this spot, which should be sacred to every heart. Can some one suggest what can be done to stop this ruthless wave of crime?

Welfare Board Issues Comparative Data

The Appomattox County Welfare Department assisted 223 families during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1944. The cost to the county was $5,222.81 or 58 cents per capita. State and Federal funds added to this showed the total expenditure for the 12 month period to be $31,302.14. Out of these funds, assistance was given to 149

Administrative costs include salaries and travel of two workers who during the year made a total of 1387 visits to homes and in interest of persons applying for or receiving assistance. There were 205 interviews held in the office. In addition to administering financial assistance the Welfare Department renders many services involving no expenditure of money. Reports for 1944 show 257 services given.

Many of these services are to children. Homes are found for children who are homeless, neglected or abandoned. Crippled children aged persons, 10 blind, 43 persons physically unemployable for other reasons and 57 dependent children. Average amounts given monthly in Appomattox as compared with the average for all counties in the state show grants in Appomattox to be among the lowest in the state and far below the average for rural Virginia.

TO RETIRE AT END OF TERM

C. S. McDearmon

An Announcement:

Owing to the condition of my health, I have decided not to be a candidate for mayor of the Town of Appomattox in the election to be held on the second Tuesday in June, 1945. And I avail myself of this opportunity to publicly thank my friends who have so loyally supported me through all the years that I have tried to serve all the people of our town. With ill will toward none and a sincere desire for the progress and growth of the town, I shall always hold myself ready to cooperate with our people to that end." With sincere thanks and best wishes.

(Signed) C. S. McDearmon.

The Hon. C. S. McDearmon,who on Sept. 1st, 1945 will have been Mayor of the Town of Appomattox for 12 years, announces that he will not be a candidate in the June election for mayor.

Mr. McDearmon has been connected with the town government ever since the town was incorporated in 1925, having been a member of the first council elected in June, 1925, and re-elected continuously to 1933 when he was elected mayor, to which office he has been re-elected for five successive terms. Mr. McDearmon was born and raised in Appomattox, but when quite a young man he went to work on the Norfolk and Western Rail Road as a telegraph operator and agent, serving in that capacity in different places in the state. Soon after the N and W built a station at Evergreen, Mr. McDearmon was made agent there and lived there until he moved to Appomattox to take over the agency for the N. and W. here. Mayor McDearmon has served his town long and faithfully, both as councilmen and mayor and his highest ambition has been to do the right thing by all parties concerned, in his decisions in court he has always tried to temper justice with mercy. I feel that I express the sentiments of our people when I say that we count ourselves fortunate indeed to have had a man of outstanding Christian character as Mayor McDearmon is, at the head of our town government so long. And we wish for him as he retires to private life that satisfaction and consolation that comes from a conciousness of duty honestly and fearlessly performed. Under the administration of Mayor McDearmon a sewerage system for the town, costing $64,000, has been constructed and other capital outlays costing over $6,000.00, all of which has been paid for except $22,000.00 due on bonds which payment cannot be anticipated.

—One who knows - J. W. C.

Dr. Lancaster Speaks Here Next Thursday

Dr. Dabney Lancaster, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will be the guest speaker at a dinner to be given on the night of March 1st by the Appomattox County Teachers Association. Dr. Lancaster will speak on the new educational program for Virginia as proposed by the Denny Commission.

This dinner meeting is being arranged by the public relations committee of the association, and members of the committee feel very fortunate in securing Dr. Lancaster for this occasion. Dr. Lancaster is a native Virginian and an alumnus of the University of Virginia. For a number of years he was assistant to the President of the University of Alabama, and more recently chairman of the Board of Directors of Sweet Briar College. For the past four years he has been State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Officials and representative citizens of the county have been invited to hear him and it is hoped that this will be an enthusiastic meeting.

The educational program of a community so vitally affects the lives of its citizens and the values of its homes, farms and businesses that Virginia can no longer afford to neglect her school system. Appomattox citizens should attend this meeting of great interest to them.

Foresee Critical Condition For Highways

Past experience has taught that major damage to highways may be expected during and following a winter such as is now being experienced. In addition to the hazardous conditions created for travel because of the frequent occurrence of snow and sleet, material damage is being done to the foundations and surfaces of all the highways. The results of such a winter will be more apparent when the freezing temperatures are no longer reached and the ground has a chance to thaw out. At such a time there will be break-ups on many roads, particularly the light surfaced type, such as soil gravel, and clay, etc.

It is unfortunate that because of the war emergency the Highway Department finds it in serious- ly handicapped by the lack of manpower to meet this situation. Every effort will be made by the department to maintain all of the more important roads, but if the roads of less importance are to receive prompt attention it will be absolutely necessary to call on every available man for help. Therefore, the field officials of the department and the district and resident engineers are being asked to disseminate this information to the fullest extent to the rural citizens of the state, and by contact, wherever possible, to enlist their aid in meeting this problem. These men will be instructed to pay the prevailing highway rates for labor, equipment and materials, and to authorize action by the rural citizens whenever the necessity for prompt action comes to their attention. While the foregoing refers to the necessity of help to repair damage, the same need for help will exist in all cases where emergencies or storms or other emergencies arise.

It is realized that those roads which need and should receive the greatest attention are those roads which carry essential traffic, consisting of school bus routes, mail routes and roads over which citizens travel to essential war industry. It is felt that rural citizens, by cooperation with the local highway official, can assist materially in much more adequate maintenance of such roads than can be done with the depleted forces of the highway department alone. All rural citizens, therefore, are requested and urged to give careful consideration to the calls which will be made on them for this type of assistance and to cooperate as fully as possible with the local highway official.

The resident engineer for this area is P. M. Burton, Appomattox.
